

Heightening your Perception, with Madeleine Barchevska, MA

Madeleine is an artist, teacher, and original thinker who has insights, approaches, and exercises to share to bring you refreshment, reassurance, new learning, and inspiration as we go forward in this time of pandemic.

Educators are the focus of her current project supported by the de Groot Foundation for Innovation in Education and Culture. Pragmatic, tested across cultures, these easily applicable pedagogical tips and practices will reduce tech anxiety as well as support and strengthen your instincts and organic knowledge of how students learn, and how we can feel more confident in our approach to teaching them.

<https://www.barchevska.com>

[https:// www.bioarttheatre labs.com](https://www.bioarttheatre labs.com)

Madeleine will speak about her research, discoveries, and practice. She'll be sharing exercises, techniques, and approaches in demonstrations you can take part in.

Topics will include the following:

Human Perception

Feeling and Form

Behavioral Aesthetics, Health, and Non-verbal Communication

The Mask in all its forms

Culture and its inevitable drive towards Abstraction

Some thoughts about the amygdala

Tips on framing a lesson online for more depth

Discovering the subtext of your teaching practice